Business Problem

The company was selling a lot of beverages, but there was a major issue with getting paid on time. They couldn't clearly see how quickly customers were settling their bills. Even some of their biggest, high-earning retailers delayed payments, which meant a lot of money was tied up and unavailable for use. This made it difficult for the company to plan ahead and manage its cash flow effectively.

Project Inspiration

This project was created to move beyond just reporting numbers and instead help the business take action. It aimed to connect the sales and finance teams, who were working separately, by turning everyday sales data into a clear, actionable dashboard like a to-do list so teams could quickly see what needs attention and follow up right away.

Project Goal

The main aim was to create a clean and easy-to-understand Power BI dashboard that shows where the company might lose money and highlights which retailers are slow to pay. Instead of overwhelming users with too much information, the dashboard focuses on key issues, especially the top customers who are behind on payments; so the team can quickly take action and recover outstanding cash.
